

Dataset: SPaSIO/EU-India/Atlas.ti content-analysed manifestos

Author: Lucyna Czechowska

Methodological concept by: Andriy Tyushka and Lucyna Czechowska

Methodological assumptions: The complication for each case study consists of strategic unilateral and bilateral manifestos issued by the both partners in the period between the first upgrading of partnership status and the reference year of 2015. The types of manifestos included: strategic bilateral documents (strategic partnership-founding documents, e.g. joint declarations, agreements and strategic partnership-implementing documents e.g. plans of action, agendas, roadmaps), as well as each partner strategic unilateral documents. Strategic unilateral documents differ in type and scope in the context of individual states and international organizations; examples of states' foreign-political manifestos include: exposés or annual speeches of foreign ministers, heads of state and government, governmental programmes, development or national security strategies, parliamentary solemn resolutions; typical foreign-political manifestos of international organizations are first and foremost IO-founding documents (treaties, charters), security and foreign affairs strategies as well as other strategic plans (concepts), agendas, including white papers/blueprints and inaugural speeches of secretary-generals (or commensurate-post holders).
